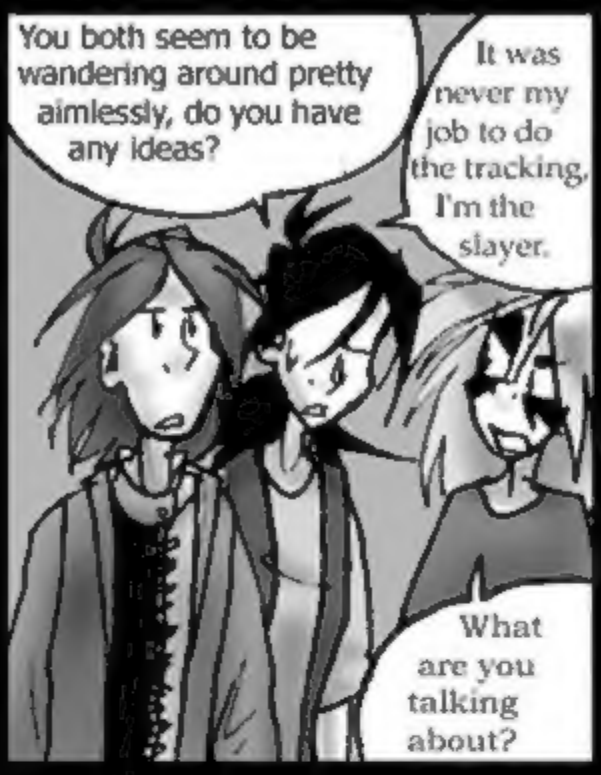
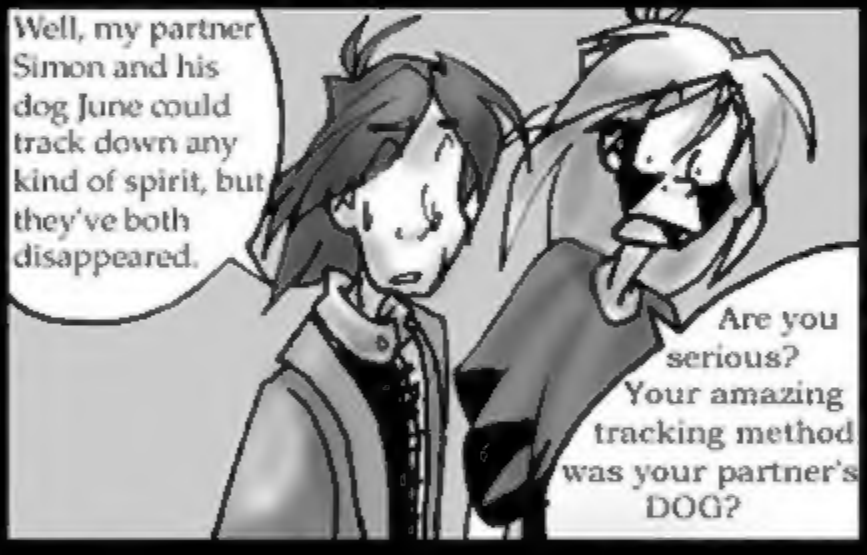
I feel like I just walked in on the middle of a sappy romance novel...
Awwww, I thought it was cute.
Coming from you Riley, that almost sounds criminal.
YOU have no right to talk buster, considering how you've been acting tonight.
What are you talking about?
You gave Credenza your necklace... your SPECIAL necklace.
What the... it was nothing! I gave it to her to send you a message! That's all!
Oh, and it didn't have anything to do with a certain tradition of giving your heartstone to the girl you're going to ma-
Hey guys, What's up?
Oh, we were just talking about how Tuff, OYE!
Nothing! Just talking about the weather, nothing important.
ELBOW!
Umm.. okay. That's... good...
I'm... going to go talk to the people who seem to know what they're doing. Don't fall behind, this place is creepy.
Mention one thing about proposal rituals and you are a deep fried fish man.
Now, what makes you think I would do that?

Hey guys, wait up. Do either of you know exactly where we're going?



You both seem to be wandering around pretty aimlessly, do you have any ideas?
It was never my job to do the tracking, I'm the slayer.
What are you talking about?



Well, my partner Simon and his dog June could track down any kind of spirit, but they've both disappeared.
Are you serious? Your amazing tracking method was your partner's DOG?

Hey, June is no ordinary dog, she-

Whoa... What is this place?

This is the leaning house. It used to be our school house until...
Until what, Nim?
Until the teacher went mad and tried to kill everyone.

You mean we have to go in THERE?
Well, June led us here. Y'know, some of the kids say this place is haunted.

They even put up those little stones, spirit gates, to help the lost souls find their way to the afterlife.

You're not scared of of ghosts, are you Tuff?
Of course not! But my sharky senses are picking up some bad mojo around this place.

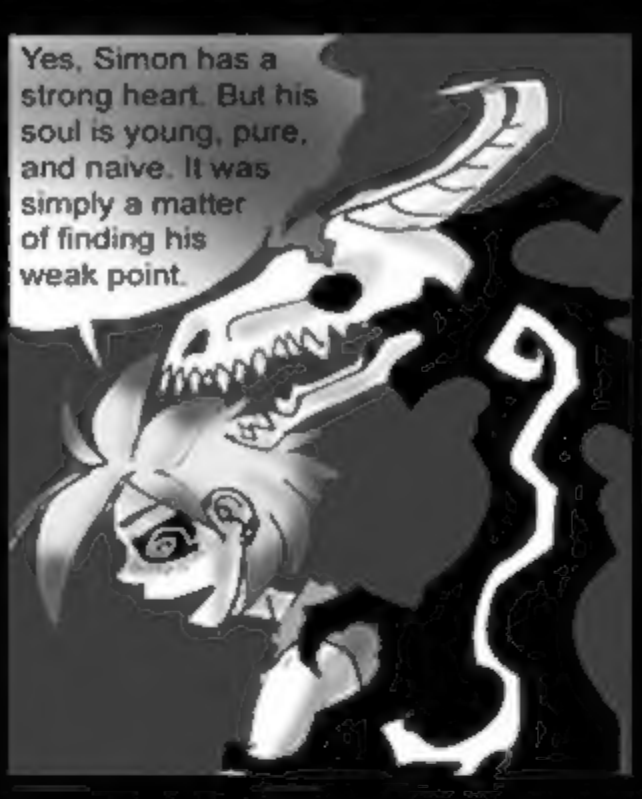
Wooooo!
Riley, you are two seconds away from getting a finger bitten off.
GUYS! Can we go already!? I'd like to get this thing over with!

(Wimper)

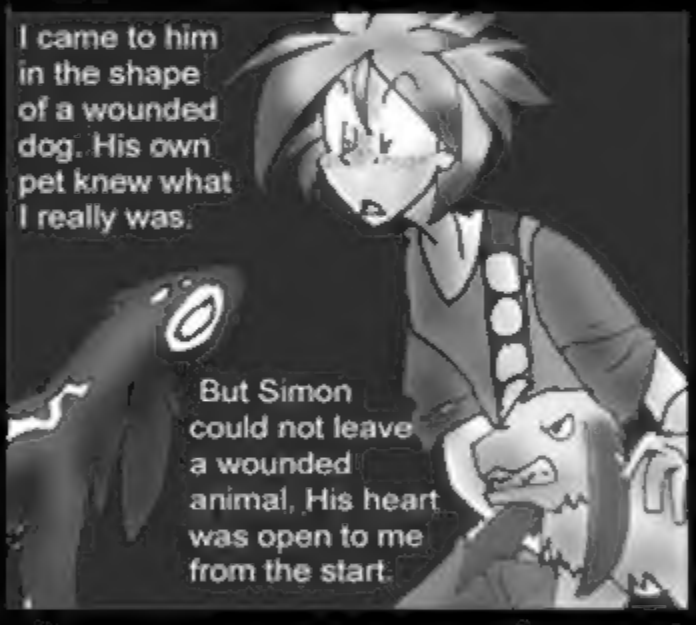
You and me both.

This place is seriously creepy... didn't you check this place when you were looking for the monster?
This doesn't make any sense... TORCH!
Fwoosh!
KATCHOO!
This place is a major source of spiritual energy. Simon checked it out for me, he said it was just fine.
Well then, I guess that makes him a liar, doesn't it?
Or, it makes ME a liar. Simon hasn't been doing much of anything lately, let alone lying. Honestly, you call yourself a demon hunter, and your own partner gets possessed right under your nose.

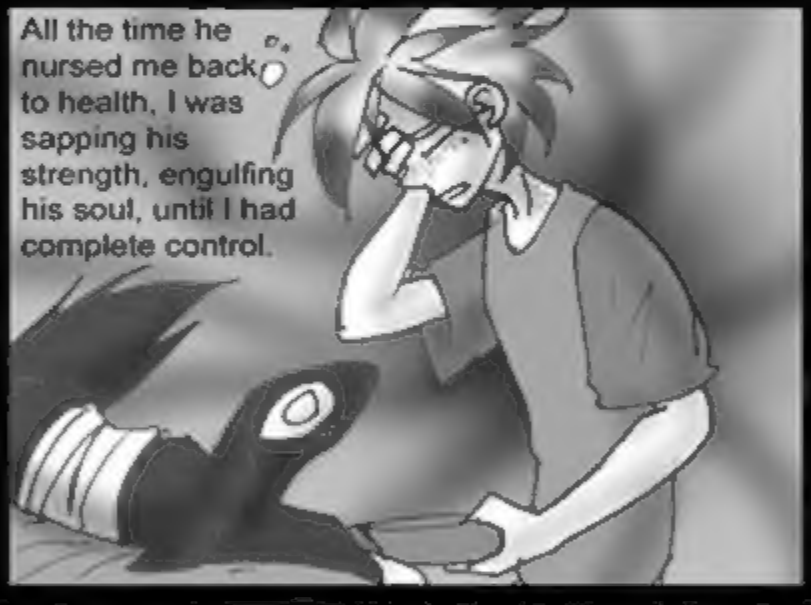
Who are you kidding!? I trained Simon to resist demonic attack, he would never fall to a second class man-eater like you!



Yes, Simon has a strong heart. But his soul is young, pure, and naive. It was simply a matter of finding his weak point.

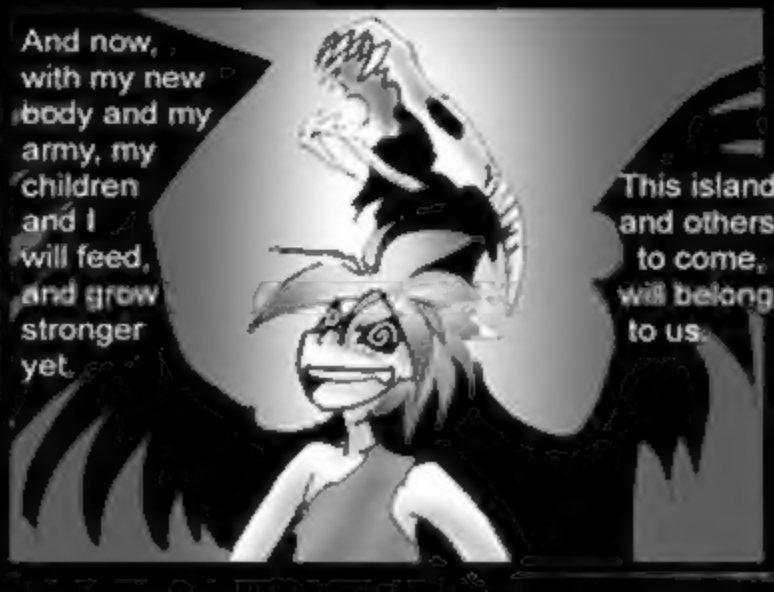


I came to him in the shape of a wounded dog. His own pet knew what I really was.
But Simon could not leave a wounded animal. His heart was open to me from the start.



All the time he nursed me back to health, I was sapping his strength, engulfing his soul, until I had complete control.

I have grown strong with his young soul, and I have called my children to me. We are hungry.
You cannot stop us, for if you kill me, Simon will suffer the same fate.



And now, with my new body and my army, my children and I will feed, and grow stronger yet.
This island, and others to come, will belong to us.

CRACK!
Who are you mortal?! Cringe in terror of your soon to be grisly demise.
I'm Credenza. I've seen scarier things than you in my nose.
You will regret your impudence, child...
RAAAUUUUG!
Wow, he got really big.
Credenza. I think we should move...
Was it really necessary to get rid of Simon's clothes, or was that just for effect?
Credenza!
YOINK!
SMASH!

CRASH!
FEED!

Everyone! Get to the city! I'll stay here and kill the queen shadowmandyr.

Wait, you can't-

Don't worry about Willium, I've got his back. I won't let him get hurt.

If you die, I'll kill you.
Umm... Okay.

Guys! Run! Get out of here!
